FUND MANAGEMENT ANALYSIS

MARKET ENVIRONMENT

- Credit markets went sideways during March, with some widening towards the end of the month
- Since the end of March, credit markets are going through an air pocket. Complexity premia are re-inflating and the opportunity set is getting more attractive
- Primary markets slowed in March, especially for new issuers or more difficult situations. They appear close to shut for now

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

- The fund delivered a negative performance in March.
- We have mainly been impacted by our investments in the financial segments and to a lesser extent by few energy and real estate names
- Our structured credit bucket (c.20% of our assets at the end of March) also performed negatively over the period

OUTLOOK AND INVESTMENT STRATEGY

- We continue to favor high yield tranches of European CLOs, which offer some of the best risk rewards across global credit and pay floating rates, protecting us against interest rate volatility.
- In March, we had the opportunity to buy our first loans in the portfolio.
- Other large allocations include financials, issuers in the natural resources space as well as the reorganized equity received in the context of a distressed debt investment. The bond portfolio yield is close to 9% (average rating BB-)
- We have decreased our cash exposure by c. 10%, in the first half of March and are in a good position to take advantage of the developing turmoil

GLOSSARY

Active Management: An investment management approach where a manager aims to beat the market through research, analysis and their own judgement.

Bottom up investing: Investment based on analysis of individual companies, whereby that company's history, management, and potential are considered more important than general market or sector trends (as opposed to top down investing).

Credit cycle: A credit cycle describes the different phases of access to credit by borrowers. It alternates between periods of easily accessible funds to borrow due to low interest rates and periods of contraction where lending rules are more restrictive and interest rates are higher.

Forward financial instruments: A forward contract is a customized contract between two parties to buy or sell an asset at a specified price on a future date. A forward contract can be used for hedging or speculation, although its non-standardized nature makes it particularly apt for hedging. Unlike standard futures contracts, a forward contract can be customized to any commodity, amount and delivery date. A forward contract settlement can occur on a cash or delivery basis.

High yield: A loan or bond rated below investment grade because of its higher default risk. The return on these securities is generally higher.

Investment grade: A loan or bond that rating agencies have rated AAA to BBB-, generally indicating relatively low default risk.

Net asset value: Price of all units (in an FCP) or shares (in a SICAV).

Non-benchmarked: Portfolio construction is a result of Fund manager views and market analysis with no bias to any benchmark.

Yield to Maturity: Yield to Maturity (YTM) is the estimated annual rate of return expected on a bond if held until maturity and assuming all payments made as scheduled and reinvested at this rate. For perpetual bonds, the next call date is used for computation. Note that the yield shown does not take into account the FX carry and fees and expenses of the portfolio. The portfolio's YTM is the weighted average individual bonds holdings' YTM within the portfolio.
