FUND MANAGEMENT ANALYSIS

MARKET ENVIRONMENT

- Credit markets remained broadly constructive in May, with risk appetite remaining strong over the month.

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

- The fund posted a positive performance over the period, mainly benefiting from our high yield idiosyncratic stories.
- We have benefited from our investments in the financial and energy sectors, in both developed and emerging countries.
- Note that, our structured credit (c.10% of our assets at the end of May) bucket performed positively over the period.

OUTLOOK AND INVESTMENT STRATEGY

- The portfolio remains conservatively positioned and the fund runs with no leverage at the moment and retains the full flexibility to take advantage of potential future volatility.
- The current level of dispersion across credit markets continues to create attractive alpha-generation opportunities for active and selective investors.
- We expect the rising market stress will create attractive opportunities for disciplined credit investors.
- We also believe that the distressed and restructuring segment should offer an increasing number of opportunities over the medium term.
- Our historically low level of exposure in structured credit should enable us to seize attractive opportunities in the CLO segment, which we expect to materialize on the back of increasing dispersion and reassessment of credit margins.
- Other large allocations include financials, issuers in the natural resources space as well as the reorganized equity received in the context of a distressed debt investment.
- The bond portfolio yield is now close to 7%, with an average rating of BB.

GLOSSARY

Active Management: An investment management approach where a manager aims to beat the market through research, analysis and their own judgement.

Bottom up investing: Investment based on analysis of individual companies, whereby that company's history, management, and potential are considered more important than general market or sector trends (as opposed to top down investing).

Credit cycle: A credit cycle describes the different phases of access to credit by borrowers. It alternates between periods of easily accessible funds to borrow due to low interest rates and periods of contraction where lending rules are more restrictive and interest rates are higher.

Forward financial instruments: A forward contract is a customized contract between two parties to buy or sell an asset at a specified price on a future date. A forward contract can be used for hedging or speculation, although its non-standardized nature makes it particularly apt for hedging. Unlike standard futures contracts, a forward contract can be customized to any commodity, amount and delivery date. A forward contract settlement can occur on a cash or delivery basis.

High yield: A loan or bond rated below investment grade because of its higher default risk. The return on these securities is generally higher.

Investment grade: A loan or bond that rating agencies have rated AAA to BBB-, generally indicating relatively low default risk.

Net asset value: Price of all units (in an FCP) or shares (in a SICAV).

Non-benchmarked: Portfolio construction is a result of Fund manager views and market analysis with no bias to any benchmark.

Yield to Maturity: Yield to Maturity (YTM) is the estimated annual rate of return expected on a bond if held until maturity and assuming all payments made as scheduled and reinvested at this rate. For perpetual bonds, the next call date is used for computation. Note that the yield shown does not take into account the FX carry and fees and expenses of the portfolio. The portfolio's YTM is the weighted average individual bonds holdings' YTM within the portfolio.
