FUND MANAGEMENT ANALYSIS

MARKET ENVIRONMENT

- June witnessed a renewed appetite for risk, driving US equity indices to fresh all-time highs.
- Investor sentiment was buoyed by the continued resilience of the US economy, easing political uncertainty, and signs of diminishing pressure on interest rates.
- Technology and AI-related stocks led the rally, with standout performances from Nvidia, Alphabet, and Amazon.
- While Wall Street outperformed other developed markets, it was surpassed by emerging markets, which benefited from a weaker US dollar.
- However, European value sectors, particularly banks and industrials, outperformed the European market.

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

- Over the month of June the fund had a positive absolute return and outperformed its benchmark.
- All our sub-themes contributed positively to the overall performance. Industrial Tech & Digital Infrastructure was the largest contributor to performance driven by continued performance in stocks like Broadcom and Nvidia.
- Our Tech Materials bucket also continued to be a large contributor with names like TSMC, SK Hynix and Elite Materials performing well on the back of their leadership positions and long term supply agreements.

OUTLOOK AND INVESTMENT STRATEGY

- In June, we initiated new positions in the cloud & software space with names like SAP, Salesforce and Adobe on that back of recent underperformance but generating cash flows and that have the ability to invest in the AI space.
- In the datacentre space we also initiated a position in Vertiv to diversify the US datacentre exposure.
- We also continued building our position in MediaTek, initiated in May and increased our wait in Alphabet.
- We exited two small positions we had in Applied Materials and Innodata on risks relating to China sales.
