Management Comments

Emerging markets experienced mixed fortunes in September; down in Asia, largely due to ongoing trade tensions and the announcement of US tariffs on Chinese imports, but rallying in Latin America following the announcement of new IMF support for Argentina. As a result, we benefitted from our fixed income investments, especially those in Latin America such as our Mexican inflation-linked bonds and Argentinian government bond positions. We reduced the portfolio's modified duration in September and remain cautiously positioned on emerging market currencies.

Management Comments

The equity component benefitted from our Latin American stocks, which rallied over the month, including those in Mexico (Grupo Banorte) and Argentina (Grupo Supervielle). Our Russian investments (Yandex) were also up. However, our Asian stocks were down, especially in China (Vipshop, Tencent) but also in India (United Spirits, Housing Development Finance) after the market fell across the board due to the default of one of India's leading financial institutions. The Fund's equity exposure remained fairly moderate at the end of the month.
