David Older's nomination as Head of Equities kick-started the massive improvements in Carmignac's equity team and processes. Similarly, his nomination at the helm of Carmignac Investissement was the beginning of a new chapter for the strategy.

This is illustrated in the 1-year rolling performance percentile ranking evolution vs its peers², considerably improving since David Older took over³:

A few key points on this improving performance:

- It is the result of years of revamping the equity team and investment process
- It stems from good stock picking in disrupting secular growth themes (pure alpha generation)
- It highlights David's very rigorous management of winning positions

Example of a long-term success story: the ecommerce

Among the 10 best performing stocks since 31/12/2018 (takeover date), we note 3 ecommerce players operating in 3 different regions, illustrating very well the philosophy of the fund: Identifying trends that have universal patterns and can be easily translated across countries and businesses.

Moreover, these named success does not entirely rely on ecommerce. Amazon has the cloud, most of the value of Mercadolibre is in payments and Sea Ltd. maintains his leadership in Southeast Asia's gaming market. As the penetration of ecommerce has seen a huge acceleration, we are now looking for the next big trend: social commerce.

Why chose Carmignac Investissement over another global equity Fund?

It truly leverages on its international playground, with a significant allocation to Emerging markets, in particular China

It is diversified in terms of sectors and positions with exposure to tech related stocks but not only. Consumption, healthcare and industrial sectors account for a significant portion of the fund.

It is now backed by a team of diversified and talented analysts unified around a same investment culture and specialized in sectors where we find the most promising secular growth trends.

It relies on discipline: divergent versus consensus & very active in sizing management, which limits risks linked to overcrowded trades

Since the beginning of the year, Carmignac Investissement A EUR share class posted +25.1% vs +0.6% for the reference indicator¹. It beats 95% of its peers (Global Equity Funds) since the beginning of the year and 90% of them since David Older took over³.
